

ALASKA GEOPORTAL

One Place. Discover Alaska's Geospatial Data.

A single discovery point for authoritative geospatial data in Alaska, connecting content from organizations across the state in one search experience.

Powered by Alaska's Geospatial Network

The Alaska Geoportal connects data from partnering organizations across the state, so you can search and discover it all from a single site. Each partner keeps stewardship of its own data and updates it directly, so what you find is always current and every dataset stays with the organization that knows it best.

Data from Every Sector

State, Federal, Local, Tribal, University, and Non-Government data in one place.

A Single Search

Rapid discovery without hunting through dozens of individual partner sites.

Always Current

The live source, updated by the partner who stewards it and never a static copy.

Become a Data Partner

Join the community of organizations putting Alaska geospatial data on the map. Every dataset shared through the Geoportal stays under your stewardship and gains the reach to inform the decisions that shape Alaska.
