This map was based primarily upon aerial photography and LANDSAT imagery, supplemented and supplemented with ground reconnaissance, field surveys, and visits to the area. Interpretations have been made in conjunction with field maps, and a number of important features that could be located with accuracy on the geological bases and mapped in a number of aerial and LANDSAT images. A portion of the area covered by LANDSAT images is shown in color."