CURRENT AND RECENT GROUND-WATER QUALITY MONITORING NETWORKS IN ALASKA

INTRODUCTION

This report contains data supplemental to Maynard (1988), an evaluation of ground-water quality monitoring in Alaska. Ground-water quality monitoring is necessary to assess trends in ground-water quality, detect or assess ground-water contamination, assess remediation efforts, and assure potability of public-water systems (PWS) using ground-water supplies.

The monitoring networks included here are administered by federal, state, or local agencies within Alaska. The networks are arranged by region and, within each region, by monitoring type. Types of monitoring include ambient trend, site, and PWS monitoring, as described in Maynard (1988).

Monitoring stations which are not contained in a public record are not available for inclusion here. Therefore, some historical monitoring may not be included.

Information is welcome pertaining to additional monitoring stations yielding publicly available ground-water quality data. Please forward information to:

COMMENTS: Regional list follow.

Public water systems not using ground water are not included.
Data should be used with caution because quality control is uncertain.

These data are evaluated individually, rather than as a whole, with the objective of assuring the quality of water supplied by public water systems. For the purposes of this report, however, PWS wells are included as a network capable of detecting contamination.

Some PWS data are usable in ambient trend monitoring also.

GROUND-WATER QUALITY MONITORING NETWORKS

REGION: Northern

TYPE: PWS

LEAD AGENCY: ADF&G

LOCATION: Sikusuilaq Springs Hatchery near Kotzebue

SAMPLING FREQUENCY: monthly

PARAMETERS ANALYZED: DO, temperature, total dissolved gas, hydrogen sulfide

CONTACT PERSON: Peter Rob, Hatchery Manager
ADF&G Sikusuilaq Springs Hatchery
P.O. Box 1030
Kotzebue, AK 99752

COMMENTS: no wells. The springs are sampled.

The objective of sampling is to assure suitability of the water supply for hatchery purposes. Assuring suitability of a water supply is similar to the objective of PWS monitoring regulated by DEC. Therefore, the ADF&G hatchery monitoring is grouped with DEC PWS monitoring. The data could potentially be included in ambient trend monitoring, as could other PWS data, and would then serve a dual purpose.

REGION: Southcentral

TYPE: PWS

LEAD AGENCY: DEC/ Public Drinking Water Program

LOCATION: statewide

SAMPLING FREQUENCY: every 3 years

PARAMETERS ANALYZED: Class A - inorganics, radiological, bacteriological
Class B - nitrates, bacteriological

DEC/SERO
P.O. Box 2420
Juneau, AK 99503 phone: 789-3151

COMMENTS: Regional list follows.

Public water systems not using ground water are not included.
Data should be used with caution because quality control is uncertain.

These data are evaluated individually, rather than as a whole, with the objective of assuring the quality of water supplied by public water systems. For the purposes of this report, however, PWS wells are included as a network capable of detecting contamination.

Some PWS data are usable in ambient trend monitoring also.

GROUND-WATER QUALITY MONITORING NETWORKS

REGION: Southcentral

TYPE: PWS

LEAD AGENCY: ADF&G

LOCATION: Elmendorf Hatchery, Municipality of Anchorage

SAMPLING FREQUENCY: 3 - 4 times yearly

PARAMETERS ANALYZED: oil and grease

CONTACT PERSON: Darrell Keifer, Hatchery Manager
ADF&G Elmendorf Hatchery
Anchorage, AK ph. 274-0065

COMMENTS: since April 1985
one well, 240 ft deep

The objective of sampling is to assure suitability of the water supply for hatchery purposes. Assuring suitability of a water supply is similar to the objective of PWS monitoring regulated by DEC. Therefore, the ADF&G hatchery monitoring is grouped with DEC PWS monitoring. The data could potentially be included in ambient trend monitoring, as could other PWS data, and would then serve a dual purpose.

REGION: Southcentral

TYPE: PWS

LEAD AGENCY: ADF&G

LOCATION: Gulkana Hatchery, Glennallen, AK

SAMPLING FREQUENCY: unknown

PARAMETERS ANALYZED: inorganics, metals

CONTACT PERSON: Ken Roberson, Gulkana Hatchery
Box 47
Glennallen, AK 99588

COMMENTS: seepage springs sampled routinely well sampled 3 times during period 1984-1986

The objective of sampling is to assure suitability of the water supply for hatchery purposes. Assuring suitability of a water supply is similar to the objective of PWS monitoring regulated by DEC. Therefore, the ADF&G hatchery monitoring is grouped with DEC PWS monitoring. The data could potentially be included in ambient trend monitoring, as could other PWS data, and would then serve a dual purpose.

REGION: Southeast

TYPE: PWS

LEAD AGENCY: DEC/Public Drinking Water Program

LOCATION: Southeast Region

SAMPLING FREQUENCY: every 3 years

PARAMETERS ANALYZED: Class A - inorganics, radiological, bacteriological
Class B - nitrates, bacteriological

CONTACT PERSON: Richard Farnell
DEC/SCRO
P.O. BOX 2420
Juneau, AK 99803 ph. 789-3151

COMMENTS: Regional list follows.

Public water systems not using ground water are not included.
Data should be used with caution because quality control is uncertain.

These data are evaluated individually, rather than as a whole, with the objective of assuring the quality of water supplied by public water systems. For the purposes of this report, however, PWS wells are included as a network capable of detecting contamination.

Some PWS data are usable in ambient trend monitoring also.
