This map has been completed using the best information available and is believed to be accurate. However, all information has its limitations, and data may require validation prior to use or proof of its accuracy. The accuracy of the information provided herein is not guaranteed. This map is intended to provide general information for tsunami inundation planning and emergency preparation and is not intended for use in navigation or for tsunami inundation mapping or planning purposes. The map is not appropriate for life-saving use or for tsunami inundation planning. Interpretation of the tsunami inundation maps is subject to qualified expert advice and recommendations.